FAQs:

Can the ODC make my doctor change his or her notes or help me change my diagnosis?

No. We are not doctors and we cannot make a doctor change his or her medical opinion, but we can help you submit a letter of rebuttal or exception to the narrative summary or even help get you an independent medical review.

Can the ODC represent me at the Informal PEB (IPEB)?

No. SMs do not have a right to appear at the IPEB or be represented; however, the ODC can provide advice prior to the IPEB on how to ensure your records are correct and complete.

I received my AF 356 (Results of IPEB Proceedings), what should I do?

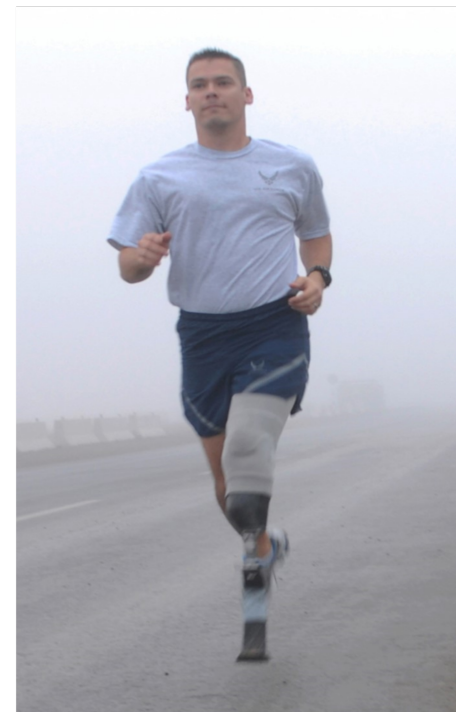

Contact ODC right away prior to making elections on the AF 1180. ODC can review your case with you, explain your appeal options based on your specific goals, and assist you in preparing your case. You only have 6 calendar days to make your election so contacting us quickly is critical.

I want to be returned to duty, what can I do?

Ensure your doctor knows what you want and that your records reflect how well you are doing, especially if your condition has improved. Also, ask your doctor whether he or she will modify your profile to reflect healthy physical fitness. If at possible, perform all parts of your job and complete a full PT test.

What happens if I request a Formal Physical Evaluation (FPEB) hearing?

A hearing date will be set about 10 days from the date the SM signs the AF 1180 requesting the hearing. ODC can assist in identifying evidence and will advocate on the SM's behalf at the hearing. Timely contact with ODC is critical for sufficient preparation.

Can the ODC assist me with appealing my Dept. of Veteran Affairs rating?

Yes! We can assist with a Dept. of Veteran Affairs rating reconsideration during the course of the DES process for your “unfitting” condition(s). Contact ODC before making your election on the AF Form 1180. Remember, you can also file a VA rating reconsideration after conclusion of their DES case.

I want to make my condition combat related, can ODC help?

Yes. ODC can assist with combat relation or combat zone designation.
